Carrie L. Christie

Trial and appellate practice focusing on the restaurant/food service, retail/wholesale, construction, aviation, religious entity, and energy industries. Serves as trial counsel for national restaurant/food service companies, major domestic and international U.S. airlines, national construction contractors, as well as insurance carriers, both primary and excess.

Representative Experience:

- Serves as consulting and trial counsel to some of the world's leading and most-loved brands; handling catastrophic injury and death resulting from dram shop/premises/security/construction liability; false imprisonment; food borne illness; commercial contracts; employment and workers' compensation matters
- Defends major domestic and international U.S. airlines, handling Warsaw and Montreal Conventions; contractual indemnity; premises liability; product liability; property damage to aircraft and airport facilities; and subrogation and recovery litigation
- Litigates numerous complex and catastrophic injury cases including multiple deaths, quadriplegia, amputations, loss of organs and severe brain injury
- Represents national and regional construction and construction management companies in catastrophic injury, construction defect, and environmental claims
- Defends environmental and toxic tort litigation under both state and federal claims
- Represents power, mining/mineral processing, oil/gas/chemical, renewable energy, water and wastewater, and marine companies in claims for breach of contract
- Represents religious entities on a variety of issues ranging from First Amendment protection, misconduct by clergy and staff, premises liability and catastrophic injury
- Represents clients in federal court on UCC grounds for claims of defective and non-conforming products, breach of contract, breach of warranty, negligence, fraud and bad faith
